Educational Background and Business Experience

Daniel Mannix was born in 1984. He graduated from the University of South Florida with a Bachelor's of Science degree in Finance. In the years to follow, he obtained his FINRA securities and research analyst licenses and became a CFA® charterholder. A CFA® charterholder is explained in further detail below:

- CHARTERED FINANCIAL ANALYST® (CFA®) – Chartered by the CFA Institute (800-247-8132, www.cfainstitute.org). The CFA® is chartered to financial professionals who have met rigorous professional standards with over 1000 hours of study, along with a minimum of four years of professional experience, successful completion of the CFA® program and have attested to the CFA Institute Code of Ethics and Standards of Professional Conduct. Successful candidates must typically hold a Bachelor's degree, complete required course of study, hold relevant work experience, pass a background check, pass an extensive examination and comply with a code of ethics. Continuing Education Requirements - 20 hours, with a minimum of two hours in the topics of Standards, Ethics, and Regulations (SER) each calendar year.

After graduating from USF, Daniel relocated to Jacksonville, FL and began his financial career at Deutsche Bank on their Convertible Bonds Trading Desk Support team. In October 2009, he decided to move to New Jersey and in January 2010, accepted a position with Goldman Sachs & Co. through Control Associates as a Listed Derivatives Fees Analyst. After seven months, Daniel relocated to New York City and went to work for JP Morgan Securities, LLC as an Interest Rate Derivatives Sales Assistant. Yearning for the Florida sunshine, Daniel moved back to the Tampa Bay area in November 2012 and joined Raymond James & Associates as a Senior Equity Research Associate covering the Financials sector.

In February 2020, Daniel joined ProVise as a Portfolio Manager. He is also registered with Kestra Investment Services, LLC, a Broker-Dealer and member of FINRA/SIPC.
